HEAVY VOTE TODAY IN MUNICIPAL ELECTION

100 Machines Bringing Out 60 Per Cent Registration
In Spirited Contest

With a heavy vote polled by noon today in the municipal election, it is estimated that more than 60 per cent of the regular electors will have cast their ballots by the time the polls close at 7 p. m.

In a check-up of four centrally located precincts at noon, it was learned that more than 200 had voted in No. 2 at 611 North Central avenue; more than 165 in No. 3 at 169 South Central avenue; more than 160 in No. 4 at 545 North Louise street, and more than 115 in No. 6 at 617 South Brand boulevard. Reports from other precincts showed that heavy balloting was being done in even the most sparsely settled sections. There are more than 8,000 registered voters in the city.

Split Ticket Likely Winner

It is plainly evident from conversation with precinct workers and electors interviewed at the polls that a ticket split three ways is being voted. From the many comments it is believed that no one ticket will win, but that some of the candidates endorsed by all organizations in the field will be members of the next city council. A spirited contest for city clerkship is being waged while the lone candidate for city treasurer and five school board trustees face no opposition.

More than 100 automobiles are shuttling from the homes to the polls in getting out the largest number possible and two or more precinct workers are to be found handing cards to the voters as they are initiated into the mysteries of casting their ballots at a consolidated precinct. The latter has caused more arguments this morning than the qualifications of the individual candidates.

For Swimming Pool Bonds

One woman who rushed to the polls early today declared she was going to vote for the swimming pool bonds, but she didn't know anything about any of the candidates for council. While the fourteen men seeking election are actively campaigning, Mrs. Ann P. Bartlett is making little stir about her candidacy. She feels that her election is assured.

At precinct No. 3, 169 South Central, a watermelon on ice, two boxes of candies and other contributions from sympathetic citizens are making the warm day bearable for the election officials. Some of the voting places are nicely fitted for the battle of ballots in vine-covered garages.

News to Announce Results

So far everything has run off smoothly and the crowds tonight will gather as usual at The Glendale Evening News office to learn of the election returns, or hear the bulletins read from the stage at The Glendale Theatre and at the Palace Grand during an intermission.

Two Oldtime Friends Visit J. F. Tassmeres

Mr. and Mrs. John F. Tassmeres of 409 East Lomita avenue were delighted to receive an unexpected visit this week from J. Rayhorn and Mr. Schoot, two old-time friends who have just returned to California from Quailford, Conn. They were four weeks making the trip, but are glad to have reached God's country at last. The guests arrived just as Mr. and Mrs. Tassmeres returned from a successful hunting trip, so their first dinner in Glendale was a feast on California rabbits. Sunday the Tassmeres took their guests for a motor trip through Ontario, Upland and Chino and left with them the first of the week to escort them as far as Bakersfield, via the Ridge Route, on their way to San Francisco, where they expect to locate.

Firecracker Places 300 Phones Out Of Use

About 300 telephones were put out of commission at 6 o'clock last evening when a child threw a firecracker into a shed at the rear of the C. E. Case home, 334 North Maryland avenue.

Destruction of the shed amounted to little—possibly $50, according to the fire department's estimate—but a loss of $250 was suffered by the Pacific Telephone & Telegraph company and a crew of men worked from 8 p. m. to 2 a. m. splicing the twenty-five feet of melted cable that was strung immediately over the shed which burned.

As usual, a large number of sight-seers visited the scene of the fire and got the usual thrill which in words amounted to, "Aw, shucks. That wasn't any blaze."

Convention Sidelights

Arnold Anderson, manager of transportation, wishes to thank the conductor of this column for calling attention to the fact that "Bill" Ralsner of Calistoga is here looking for a wife. "Bill" was mysteriously absent from several meetings at the start of the convention, but since the pitiless light of publicity has been thrown upon his wandering footsteps it is reported that he is attending strictly to C. E. business.

Alameda County's "Kazook" Band" sounds like a combination of a howling coyote, a tomcat on a moonlight night and the wail of a lost banshee. If they keep on with their performance the balance of the delegates will have to grant their demand to hold the 1922 convention in Oakland as a matter of self-preservation.

Here is one on Howard Brown. The official theme of the convention, "Looking Unto Jesus," is taken from Hebrews 12:1-2, and is commonly referred to as Hebrews.

During this morning's session Howard, being busy with routine duties, had lost track of the order of procedure. Turning to a group of young folks from the Alameda delegation, he inquired, "Hebrews?" "I should say not," indignantly replied one youth, "We're Scotch."

There was a baseball game yesterday afternoon between the C. E. Union (the Fossils) and the State (the Goofs) at the high school grounds. The score was close, and also large, just how large The News is unable to state as only one reporter was on the job and the runs were crossing the plate so fast that it needed a bookkeeper with an adding machine to keep the score.

Anyway, it was rumored that the Goofs won, although nobody seemed to know just how many runs had been scored. President Valentine started as umpire but was accused of undue partiality in behalf of the Fossils and chased to the showers early in the game.

Oh, yes, Otis Ironmonger occupied the mound for the Fossils. They say Otis used to be some pumpkins, but according to yesterday's form, as a pitcher he would make a fine song-leader.

Anybody Seen Little Virginia's Dog? She Wants Her Bull Pup

"A little girl, heart-broken." That is the ad appearing in the classified columns of The Glendale Evening News tonight regarding the loss of a Boston bull pup.

Little Virginia Hanger of 337 West Ivy street doesn't know what to do without her doggie. She cried herself to sleep last night, singing:

"Oh, where, oh, where has my little dog gone."

"Oh, where, oh, where can he be."

Virginia's mother, Mrs. Irving Hanger, hopes that anyone knowing of the pup's whereabouts will phone Glendale 2120-R.

Miss Olive Williams Bride Of H. C. Darling

The marriage of Miss Olive Williams, daughter of Mrs. C. N. Williams of 128 West Maple avenue, to H. C. Darling of this city, comes as a great surprise to the many friends of the bride's family.

Optimism Is Prevailing

SAN FRANCISCO, June 28.—Optimism seemed to be the undertone of the monthly business review of the Twelfth district federal reserve bank issued today.

The review covered business conditions in western states for the month of May.

"Improvement in retail trade, continuing activity in building operations and gradual liquidation of loans and investments by the principal member banks," were noted as the outstanding features of the month.

Discussing prices the report said: "A majority of the 174 wholesale firms reporting state that retailers are now generally basing their prices to the consumer on the replacement costs at wholesale.

Increase in Building

"Notwithstanding a complete cessation of building activity in San Francisco during May on account of disagreements between employers and laborers building operations in the district during May were but 9.24 per cent less in number than those of the record month of April, 1921," the report declared, discussing building activities.

Los Angeles, Salt Lake, Ogden, Utah and Sacramento showed an increase of over 100 per cent in building over May, 1920.

Marguerite Chappell Breaks Arm In Doing Acrobatic Handspring

Little Marguerite Chappell of 338 Vine street, the champion handspring artist of that thoroughbred suffered a painful accident last week. While indulging in some other acrobatic stunts with a number of other neighboring children she twisted her right arm.

No bones seemed to be broken so the arm was bandaged as for a sprain, but the next day the condition was unsatisfactory and a physician was consulted.

The trouble could not be correctly located until two x-rays were taken, and they showed a small bone broken at the elbow.

This was given attention at the Research Hospital, and now Marguerite is getting along nicely, but will be compelled to carry her arm in a sling for some time, to the great detriment of her summer music.

REESE MARTIN OF BERKELEY IS CHOSEN AS PRESIDENT OF C. E.

Prominent in Organization and It Was in Its Ranks That He Won His Wife

Reese Martin, who was this morning elected thirty-fifth president of the California Christian Endeavor union, has been associated with this organization for many years, and has held almost every office to which it is possible to be elected. Vice president, superintendent of the army and navy, evangelical superintendent, general secretary, and finally president, are the honors that have been awarded Mr. Martin for faithful service.

But there is still a greater prize that the new president contends he won through his association with the Christian Endeavor—that being his wife, Mrs. Elizabeth Martin, who is also a prominent figure in Endeavor circles, and whom Mr. Martin first met while engaged in Endeavor work.

Mr. and Mrs. Martin organized the first Chinese interdenominational chapter of the Christian Endeavor in California, which is composed of high school and university students about the Bay Cities. Mr. Martin is a member of the Methodist church of Berkeley.

The new C. E. president is a civil engineer by profession and in the employ of the Standard Oil company of Richmond, near Oakland. He is thirty-four years of age, and the head of a happy family composed of his wife, Elizabeth, and a daughter, little Elizabeth.

By R. D. KNICKERBOCKER

With the official business of the convention scheduled for this morning the largest gathering to attend a morning session of the Christian Endeavor Union was present today.

The opening program was given by the Rev. V. Hunter Brink, pastor of the Central Avenue Methodist church. Praise was given for the great religious movement which has culminated in the Christian Endeavor society and asked that these young delegates return to their homes the lessons learned at the convention.

Owing to the fact that Howard L. Brown, who was scheduled to deliver today's "Helping You to Help Yourself" talk, was unavoidably detained in Los Angeles; Harry C. Allan took his place.

Conference Is Held

Contending that it is not so much the method of religious worship that counts as is the vital belief in Jesus Christ as our Lord and Saviour, Dr. McAfee urged all Christians, no matter of what denomination, to cast aside any spirit of intolerance they may have and center their thoughts upon the fundamental principles of Christianity.

"No matter what church we may belong to, our main idea is to serve Christ," he declared. "It doesn't make any difference what method you use; the main thing is to serve. If we can't cast aside artificial differences in the service of Christ, in God's name when can we?"

—live up in the "green Verdugo hills"—where mere existence is a keen delight. Live in the fogless, frostless, smokeless, noiseless country—where big live oaks and sycamores, alders and chaparral lend rustic charm—where woody odors, real running streams, clear, fogless skies and a balmy atmosphere are restful and soothing to the nerves.

Go where your kiddies are welcomed—where they'll grow strong and sturdy.

Historic Verdugo Woodlands is studded with beautiful homes—a community of refined, cultured people.

Go and see a foothill suburb that far surpasses Hollywood or Altadena in diversified scenic charm, and particularly in climate, elevation and mountain water.

Good Words Club Is Increasing Membership

The Good Words club, organized last week at the home of Mrs. Gilchrist, 230 West Colorado street, took in eight new members at its meeting yesterday. The children stated that their membership in the club was already helping them to do their ordinary daily work much more cheerfully. Their leader used a sunflower to illustrate how many seeds can grow from the planting of just one and urged them to remember this in planting good deeds and words.

The following committees were appointed during the business session: Bylaws committee, Syble Townsend, Marcia Cricker, Kathryn Stanley, Evelyn Townsend, Josephine Hogue. Ways and means committee, Grace Carmack, Barbara Stamps, Frances Chambers. Automobile committee, Alvin Merrick, Kathryn Stanley, Doris Stamps. Flower and Calling committee, Mary Ann Merrick, Genevieve Merrick, John Page, James Flatners, Andrew Merrick.

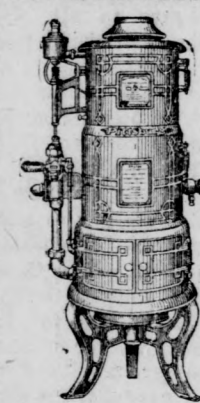

The club intends to visit the "shot-ins" of all ages, taking them flowers and fruit. The next meeting will be July 11, and each tardy member will be fined 1 cent.

ANNUAL BANQUET OF
'FOSSILS' FULL OF NOISY 'EATING'

Then, At Times, Talks Of Big Benefit Are Given; New Officers Are Elected

By MARGARET SHARPE
About 300 Endeavorers gathered at the First Methodist Episcopal church Monday night to enjoy the annual banquet of the Alumni association. The "tenacious and barna-cled Association of Fossils" were there en masse and it is doubtful if a single time-worn joke was left behind.

Of course the banquet was primarily an affair of deep solemnity, and there were periods of quiet, but these periods were noticeably just after the J. O. C. class, who served, had brought on a fresh supply of
"eats." Chief Fossil Ben J. Small, who presided, deplored the lack of order and almost wept when the guests burst forth suddenly in song, or what was worse indulged in personalities directed in chorus at some inoffending fossil who was trying to hide modestly in his shell.

Serve Four-course Dinner
The Ladies' Aid, under Mrs.
Charles Starkey, had prepared a delicious four-course dinner, and the J. O. C. class, costumed in dainty white, with pretty caps in the C. E.
colors, served. Mrs. C. R. Lushy directed operations in the big dining room and the ease with which the ladies handled the serving brought forth quite a few compliments from the guests. During a lull in the flow of jolly banter the J. O. C.'s collected in a group and announced themselves with a cleverly-worded
"yell," which was greeted by wild applause from the guests. "What do you mean J. O. C.?" asked a chorus of voices. "Jesus Our Companion!"
came the answer and the applause doubled.

Ask for Stale Stuff
When the last bite of ice-cream was disappearing a voice was heard to inquire "Where are all the stale jokes?" and Chief Fossil Small obligingly arose. The burst of laughter that greeted him was painful, of course, but he finally managed to make himself heard and called on the "oldest Fossil present," Leon Shaw of Los Angeles for a few words. Mr. Shaw, after a few "scintillating" remarks got down to business and pointed out the real things of a lasting character that the convention should give to all. He also mentioned some criticisms that had been directed toward the C. E. and stated that the organization was too big and too fine to be touched by criticism, and must be kept so.

Appeal to Young Folk
The second speaker, Harry Godber of Pasadena, urged them not to miss the unusual opportunities that were opening up before them. The C. E. being the strongest appeal to the young people of the church to rise up and go out to work for Christ, it behooves the older members to back them up and encourage them, he said.

Howard Brown, head of the convention committee, who has weathered eighteen state conventions, showed how valuable is the part of Christian Endeavor as a trainer of young people. Harry Allan, field secretary of the organization, spoke of the work of enlarging C. E. and giving it to foreign lands.

Paul C. Brown pointed out the big problems that are facing Christian workers, the greatest enemy to youth being the spirit of worldliness that is creeping into the church organizations.

At the close of the evening Mr.
Small called for nominations for officers for the coming year and unanimous votes were cast for B. I. Valentine, president of the California State union, for president; A. W.
Johnson, of Fresno, vice-president;
Al Dingle, secretary; Miss Clara
Hassler, treasurer.

Dr. C. A. Shoemaker
Again Visiting Here

Dr. C. A. Shoemaker, surgeon, of Lincoln, Nebraska, is visiting his old-time friend here in Glendale, Dr. M.
B. Ketchum, oculist. The doctor usually makes a trip to this section of the country every summer in order to get away from the effects of the extreme heat in the east at this time of the year. In driving about Glendale he expressed himself as very much astonished at the great improvement that has taken place in both the business and residence section since he was here two years ago.
Like almost every one else who comes here he wishes that something would happen to him so that he could not go back east at all, but remain here to live.

have business rooms on the first floor, and on the second available space for apartments.

PIE AND PICKLES
AT PICNIC MAKE
EYES WATER

E. C. Hale Writes 'Dear Katie'
Delegates Enjoy Outing
In Verdugo Woodlands

GLENDALE, June 28, 1921.

Dear Katie: Since this here convention come to town I been flyin around and tearin my hair till my permanent marcell wave has begun to look like a ripple in the bath tub.
Monday mornin when I got up I had to hike out to Verdugo Park before breakfast to write a article on the C. E. picnic. Well, I got there a little early on account of walkin all the way instead of waitin for a street car, cause them bloomers cars only go on the hour and there's no tollin which hour it's going to be.

But anyway the best part of the picnic crowd was on hand when I got there which the same was a half dozen of the fair sex behind the lunch counter, and tables was loaded with cute little lunch boxes, about the size of a package of corn flakes.
The Verdugo park is a fairy land, Katie, and as I wandered through the cool retreats and sylvan shades and sit beside the gurgling stream, I only wished as how you was there too.

Appetites Begin to Come Well, at last a lot of autos and street cars commenced to come, all loaded with hungry C. E. juniors and for a while the rush for the lunch counter looked like a run on a bank.
I was beginnin to have a appetite like a section gang myself, so I went over to buy one of them lunch boxes with the mysterious contents.

And, Katie, you could of knocked me over with a sledge hammer when the lady told me I couldn't buy a lunch unless I had a ticket in advance, cause she said as how there was more kids with tickets as there was lunches, anyhow. The rule was —no ticket, no lunch.

Old Mother Hubbard's surprise at the kitchen cupboard was nothing compared with this bit of news, Katie, and all to once my merry mood dropped from 37 1/4 to 0 1/2.
I felt so suppressed about the matter that I went away and sit down on a stump.

Wanted—A Piece o'Pie

I began to decide that for a piece o'pie and a glass of grade A milk
I would of been willin to of traded this job as a starvin reporter and a throwed in a couple of lead pencils in the bargain.

Everybody was a sittin around inspecting their lunch boxes with yells of delight and it made my eyes water when they bring to my view everything from pie to pickles.

So there I set lookin about as artistic and forlorn as a potato on the spout of a oil can.

But I wasn't mad at nobody,
Katie, and I just tried to act like a innocent bystander.

Then all to once a pretty maiden which weighed about 120 with her hair bobbed and lookin as sweet as a dollar's worth of sugar come over to where I was sittin and she says to me as how this is a nice park and was I havin a nice time and did I come from Burbank and did I have my lunch. And, Katie, all I could say was yes and no.

He Sure Feels Cheap
I felt as cheap as a second hand postage stamp and my face was be-ginnin to look like a tongue sandwich.

Well, right away I guess she discovered as how I was starvin to death, cause away she went and in a minute she come back with one of them cute little lunch boxes and a glass of lemon-aid which she give to me. Well, Katie, I tried to tell her how awful nice she was, but she just give me a smile which would of made Jesse James throw up his hands and surrender. Then away she went. But the C. E. convention is full of people like she, is Katie.
So I had a nice lunch which goes to show as how the blind chicken gets a kernel once in a while.

Well, about 3 o'clock the Intermediate crowd come out to the park and then baseball and other games was had and the Verdugo woods just rang long and loud with noise and merry laughter till sun down.

Everybody seemed to enjoy the day, Katie, and the weather was what is known as a perfect California day (whatever that is).
Yours while the ink holds out,
E. C. HALE.

RECREATION GIVEN

HIGHLY COMMENDED

J. R. BAKER

Play as well as work and worship is necessary to the success of any convention and the state Christian Endeavor convention now meeting in Glendale is no exception. The chairman of the recreation committee is J. R. Baker, who is well known in Glendale, being a teacher in the Glendale Union high school. Mr.
Baker and his assistants outlined a busy program for the big host now in Glendale, and it is certain, judging by expressions of delegates, that all of the visitors are well satisfied with the "stunts" arranged.

War With Japan Near,
Is Claimed By Writer

WASHINGTON, July 28.—President Harding, Secretary of State Hughes and other members of the cabinet had before them predictions of war with Japan and charges of British designs to bring about such a war. These charges were contained in a telegram from Thomas F. Millard, an American writer in the far east.

"The far eastern situation," stated Millard, "is more ominous than I have ever known it to be. I regard war with Japan almost certain and rapidly approaching. A renewal of the Anglo-Japanese alliance on its old lines will surely be directed against America."

"I am convinced the British government's policy in China is opposed to American policy and secretly works against our interests out there. My opinion is that Great Britain is purposely framing up a war between Japan and the United States."

Italian Cabinet Has

PARIS, June 28.—The Italian cabinet has resigned, according to dispatches received here. The Giolitti cabinet, endangered by the strengthening of opposing factions at the last election, has been under fire since this parliament convened. Its organization and international policies were attacked, especially.

LOS ANGELES, June 28.—A mo-

new trial was granted attorneys for Raymond Smith, convicted of poisoning his young wife, by Judge Reeves' court. The hearing was set for 9:30 a. m., July 5. Smith appeared in court with one of his attorneys, Will Anderson. He appeared to be entirely composed.

SOME LOCAL NEEDS
ARE RELATED BY
R. C. DOUGHERTY

Glendale's Growth In Past
Fifteen Years Discussed
By Reading Resident

The truly marvelous growth of a municipality like Glendale is best observed by one who has seen it at various intervals during the past fifteen years. R. C. Dougherty with wife and son, a hardware merchant of Reading, Penn., and a brother of Mrs. Mottern, after spending the last two weeks at the home of his sister at 211 North Adams street, left with his family over the Salt Lake via Salt Lake City, Denver, Kansas City and St. Louis, to his eastern home last Saturday.

Mr. Dougherty frankly admits he has seen nothing in recent years to compare with the rapid strides made in home-building as in this city, which is particularly striking on account of the pronounced slump in the east in building operations.

Cites Some of City's Needs
His observations of Glendale and its needs to make it a better city for the business and traveling man is the need of a large modern office building, several modern fire-proof storage ware-houses and wholesale houses for the distribution of hardware, groceries, dry goods, notions, seeds and implements to the dealers throughout this territory. He observes also the great need of a modern hotel for the accommodation of the traveling man.

Mr. Dougherty first visited Glendale in 1906 and has been making business trips to the coast at different times since then, but this is the first time he has been able to get west since 1915, during which time Glendale has gone forward from a small town to a flourishing city.

Plans to Boost Glendale

He declares that he will sound the praises of Glendale to all interested listeners when he returns to his eastern home.

Foremost of all the charms of southern California, he will dwell especially on the Mt. Lowe trip, for, in his opinion, there is no more interesting trip to be taken in this country equal to it, in wonder, scenic beauty and grandeur.
He left with a firm resolve to take this same Mt. Lowe trip upon each successive visit to southern California.

POWERS OF PRAYER ARE ILLUSTRATED TO DELEGATES

Make Up List Of Those Who Need Help, Suggestion By Miss Hancie Naylor

By MARGARET SHARPE

Miss Hancie Naylor, in her illustrated talk to the Christian Endeavor delegates on Monday morning laid great stress on the power to lift the burdens of society. Lighten temptation and save souls. She said: "Come unto Me, all ye that labor and are heavy laden," said our Lord. "Call ye upon Me and I will answer." And how well He set the example. After almost every one of His triumphs history tells us "He went apart" and prayed. So it is in imitation of Christ that we feel we should spend some time each day alone at prayer.

"It is not only to imitate our Lord, however, that we have our 'quiet hour.' Our souls need spiritual food just as surely as our bodies need nourishment, and spiritual food is prayer. 'I am the Bread of Life,' He has told us, also 'This Word is the Bread of Life.' We cannot afford to starve our souls, so let us no longer deny them the nourishment they need."

Suggests 'Prayer List'

The fines way to pray, according to Miss Naylor, and that which brings the most noticeable results is to have a "Prayer List." That is, a list of the special people or groups for which one wishes to pray or whom one thinks need the help we can give in this way. It is well for Endeavor societies to have their prayer lists too, and for groups of the members to have a special evening each week when they can gather together and pray for the things they are working for, and for the Divine aid to help them reach some particular soul, she said.

The talk was illustrated by a group of Endeavorers who represented a girl at prayer, while three young men, filed by, bowed with the weight of "Burdens of Society. Temptations and 'Saving of Souls.'" As the girl continued to pray their burdens grew miraculously lighter as would the burdens of the whole world if it but followed her example, it was pointed out.

Reapportionment For County Is Discussed

Fifteen members of the California state legislature representing Los Angeles county met at the Los Angeles Chamber of Commerce rooms Thursday night and discussed plans for the proper reapportionment of the legislative districts.

It is believed this proposition will come before the extra session of the legislature which Governor William D. Stephens has intimated he will call soon after Congress has acted upon the congressional district's reapportionment, according to John Robert White of Glendale, who is the local representative in the state government.

Inasmuch as Los Angeles county is the only one to gain by such a move, the representatives foresee a strenuous fight, although the state constitution specifically provides for such a contingency.

High compliment also was paid at the meeting to Henry W. Wright, former speaker of the house, who recently has been appointed supervisor from this district to succeed Jonathan S. Dodge, the new superintendent of banking. Governor Stephens' decision was considered a wise one in this regard, according to Mr. White.

A LECTURE ON CHRISTIAN SCIENCE BY MRS. BLANCHE K. CORBY, C. S. B.

A lecture on Christian Science, entitled "Christian Science, the Truth That Heals," by Mrs. Blanche K. Corby, C. S. B., Member of the Board of Lectureship of The Mother Church, The First Church of Christ, Scientist, in Boston, Mass.

The lecturer was introduced by Dale G. Vaughan, First Reader.

The lecturer said:

"The time for thinkers has come," writes Mrs. Eddy in the preface of her great work, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures." In the recorded history of man, there has never been such intense thinking on things spiritual and religious as there is today. Advanced thinkers are realizing that the world can never be rebuilt from the old basis of materiality and continue in a state anything short of anarchy; and that a true constructive league can be founded only upon the basis of spiritual regeneration. Consequently there are more people seeking sincerely and earnestly for a knowledge of the truth than ever before. The old theological concepts and philosophical theories no longer answer an inquiring people; the demand today is for proof or demonstrated evidence. Whenever lectures on Christian Science are given, large numbers congregate in the hope of hearing something helpful, something usable in the nature of religion.

A Christian Science lecture is not for the purpose of proselyting or of urging Christian Science upon the unwilling; it is simply to give to enquirers a better understanding of God and his relation to man. Christian Science, known to the world only a little more than fifty years, has had an unprecedented growth. The majority of its adherents have been healed of sickness or saved from wretchedness and despair. Its great ranks are largely made up of those who have been compelled to turn to God for aid when all other means have failed. Few people turn to God for daily and hourly help in times of adversity until all material means have proved unavailing. Man has not believed that God is an available and immediate help under all conditions, but those who have been denied all hope of healing from the popular systems, those who have suffered discouragement and who despair with the poor comfort of expected death as a release, and who at last have turned to Christian Science and have found a knowledge of God which gave health and happiness, rejoice in the conviction that Christian Science is the revelation of truth to which we have longed for. He said, "Ye shall know the truth and the truth shall make you free." When one is made free through the demonstration of the truth, he is free indeed, because God is the liberator. God has revealed himself to man whenever man has been in greatest need of deliverance. A savior has always appeared to humanity when the need was the greatest; for a savior, always the need is for deliverance from the evils of material sense, and the efforts of those great men and women who saw the necessity of replacing materialism by spiritual regeneration have made immortal history.

Every thinking person in this audience is conscious of the existence of things. He knows also that all things to exist must have cause, government, and law, and consequently that there is the truth about all existing things. Christian Science proclaims that the one and only cause of all things is God. It declares that God is infinite and is therefore divine Mind; the infinite can not possibly be other than Mind, for with all that is less than mind, we associate the limitations of form, size, length, breadth, color, and the like. Christian Science declares that the one infinite Mind or the one infinity of good is all life, law, power, intelligence, activity, and is the principal underlying all. Then it declares that Mind can be expressed only in thoughts or ideas; it therefore follows that God's universe including man is mental, is composed of spiritual ideas, and that these ideas range from the least up to man in the image and likeness of God. The Scriptures say that God was satisfied with this creation which he pronounced good.

The one infinity of good does not include the so-called mystery of evil, for to the infinity of good there is no consciousness of evil. Man, the divine image and likeness, can know and express only that which God ordained for man.

Christian Science teaches that to know God aright it must be understood that God is Principle. Why should it be thought strange that Christian Scientists believe God to be divine Principle? Christian Science is the science of Christianity and all scientific demonstrations, whether physical or mental, are the result of an understanding of laws and the employment of them. Mathematics, music, architecture, everything that is worked out according to rule or method is in accordance with principle; then it should not be considered inconsistent that man, the spiritual image and likeness of God, is governed by the law of divine Principle instead of being left to the chance and change of human belief. The meaning of the word principle is: basis or foundation which governs all that proceeds from it; we find therefore that it is the most appropriate term for God.

The highest concept of God to be attained is that of Love expressed in the compassionate loving Christ Jesus, who "came to save that which was lost." Through what is called the supreme sacrifice, he overcame death on the cross, revealing to men their God-given dominion. The one consciousness of Love can have no consciousness of anything but love. It is universal love poured out to all mankind. Jesus taught that the tender love of the fatherhood of God is greater and can do more for us than the limited human concept of love. He said, "If ye then, being evil, know how to give good gifts unto your children, how much more shall your Father which is in heaven give good things to them that ask him?" (Matt. 7:11). Another example of Love understood and practiced is found in this age in the life of the Discoverer and Founder of Christian Science, Mary Baker Eddy. Because of Mrs. Eddy's love for humanity, her life was one of loving obedience to God, devoted to the establishment of Christian Science on earth, that all might share the blessing it bestows in health and happiness. Her whole concern was to reveal to her fellow-men Christ's plan of salvation. This concept that God is Love, is made practical in a more loving brotherhood; it destroys all strife, hatred, and revenge, and takes away the desire to injure in any way one's brother. A right sense of love is not talking but doing. As Mrs. Eddy has so beautifully expressed it, it is "Love reflected in love." (Science and Health, p. 17.)

We have barely touched the hem of Christ's garment today in our understanding that God is Love, but the glimpses already gained have enabled Christian Scientists to heal the sick and to be helpful to humanity. This impelling force of Love will continue until, "all shall know Him from the least to the greatest," and God's love be manifested among men.

It is because humanity has believed that it is subject to the chance and change of human conditions that it has desired an adequate savior. It has believed that man is fallen and subject to all manner of suffering and disease. It has inwardly protested against the cruelty and injustice of intolerable conditions caused by the inhumanity of men, but the protest was feeble and of little avail, because mankind has been educated to believe that evil is inevitable and that there is no way of escape but through death. Splendid men and women have devoted their lives to the amelioration of the wrongs of the world, and have continued to do so until their sacrifice has made a bright spot for a day, but the ceaseless tragedy of human life goes on. The recent war raised humanity to great heights of sacrifice, but the aftermath does not reveal a purified world, and war will continue until this condition exists because of the false concept of God that has been instilled into consciousness from generation to generation. Religionists have given too much thought to original sin and have dwelt too little upon such passages of holy writ as, "Now are we the sons of God."

When we believe that God sends or permits suffering, that he takes our loved ones from us as a means of disciplining us, are we not trudging along with the old theological belief, that God is the author of all suffering? Christian Science replaces the old theological concept of heaven as a place of inaction with nothing to do with a heaven of activity, the activity of right thought. This is identical with Jesus' concept when he plainly said that heaven is not a place nor a locality, but that it is found within; and he never said that one must die in order to reach it. It is through the purification of individual consciousness that heaven is gained; it is therefore a present possibility. If the thought of every man, woman, and child were purified to the Godlike point of knowing nothing but good in daily and hourly thinking, that for which Jesus prayed, God's kingdom on earth as it is in heaven, would appear. The kingdom of heaven is found in individual consciousness.

Whatever will destroy fear becomes the benefactor of humanity, because fear is the cause of most of the wretchedness and woe, sickness, poverty, and death of the world. Every human being is subject to the continual and aggressive arguments of fear. Many people live in constant fear of death, and millions are dying every year because they believe that suffering, disease, and death are inevitable. The desire to live is innate and natural, but constant fear and the contemplation of disease and death bring disastrous experiences. The so-called laws of the human mind are based upon fear and limitation, because of the ignorance of what constitutes real law, and as a result man limits himself in every direction. This state of thought results in discouragement and weakness. It enfeebles man's ability to accomplish the good that he desires to accomplish. In other words, it is the claim of evil that God is limited in his opportunity to express good to man. When it is understood that all thought is expressed after its own kind or quality, men will be more watchful of their thought processes. Mrs. Eddy has given the remedy for the correction of all erroneous thinking in "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" when she says, "Steady porter at the door of thought. Admitting only such as we must expect to accomplish good, and this joyous expectancy will be apparent, for we should go about radiating the gladness of living. We read in Proverbs (17:22), 'A merry heart doeth good like a medicine; but a broken spirit drieth the bones.'"

Christian Science brings the cheering message that there is an escape from evil, a way out of it all, a way complete in its salvation. It is not a new savior; it is the savior of the prophets and of Jesus who declared the way of salvation to be at hand. Jesus taught that it is the evil which proceeds from the heart that injures a man, in other words, that it is wrong thinking and not conditions of matter that must be corrected. In the degree that man ceases to think evil and sin, and learns to dwell in good will and sin disappear. It is the carnal mind that is at enmity with the divine Mind. The Scriptures say that the carnal mind is dead; then as man ceases to think after the manner of the carnal mind, he gains life and health.

The sense of fear and death came with the mist that arose from the earth of material sense as it is related in the second chapter of Genesis. If obscured the heavenly vision which showed God to be Spirit, and man to be wholly spiritual. Christian Science is restoring this vision today in all its beauty, power, and grandeur. It is the revelation of truth bringing salvation to the inhabitants of the earth. Jesus drew a sharp line between spirit and matter when he said, "God is a Spirit and they that worship him must worship him in spirit and in truth." (John 4:24). He declared also, "That which is born of the flesh is flesh, and that which is born of the Spirit is spirit," showing that there is no connecting link between matter and spirit. He showed clearly that salvation is found only in the spiritualization of thought.

It is generally considered that spirituality is a supernatural, vague, or indefinite condition of being which cannot be made practical. Christian Science removes spirituality from the realm of the supernatural and impractical and reveals it as a normal condition. Spirituality is right thinking, and can be applied in all of the detail and routine of every day life. Christian Science has taught us that we can think rightly about all that we have to do. The remedy for all evil lies in the power of right thought; there is nothing that can be substituted for it. Our highest concept of everything is the best that we can express; therefore, the more spiritual the thinking, the more the expression of health, harmony, and better environment. All is mental whether upon a good or an evil plane. The history of the past is the record of the expression of thought; all present activity is the expression of thought. The most dramatic event in all history, as well as the most tragic, was the crucifixion of Jesus, when thought brought about the most sublime event, the most divine expression of God's love to humanity, was the resurrection of Jesus brought about by Jesus' right thinking when he overcame death and revealed the way of salvation for all mankind.

Everyone yearns for health, peace, and life in abundance. Throughout the world not one man can be found who will say that he does not want health and peace, but that it is not his to have, not in the way or after the manner of the world, but by taking away the sins of the world through the spiritualization of thought. Christian Science does not require the giving up of anything that is good and true, it is only the false gods of material beliefs that must be gotten rid of in order to gain that which is altogether lovely. Christian Science teaches that only as we know God can we possess and express the things most desirable. Paul, referring to what had been written hundreds of years before, by the prophet Isaiah (64:4), writes in his first letter to the Corinthians (2:9), "Eye hath not seen, nor ear heard, neither have entered into the heart of man, the things which God hath prepared for them that love him." Christian Science replaces the old theological concept of heaven as a place of inaction with nothing to do with a heaven of activity, the activity of right thought. This is identical with Jesus' concept when he plainly said that heaven is not a place nor a locality, but that it is found within; and he never said that one must die in order to reach it. It is through the purification of individual consciousness that heaven is gained; it is therefore a present possibility. If the thought of every man, woman, and child were purified to the Godlike point of knowing nothing but good in daily and hourly thinking, that for which Jesus prayed, God's kingdom on earth as it is in heaven, would appear. The kingdom of heaven is found in individual consciousness.

Whatever will destroy fear becomes the benefactor of humanity, because fear is the cause of most of the wretchedness and woe, sickness, poverty, and death of the world. Every human being is subject to the continual and aggressive arguments of fear. Many people live in constant fear of death, and millions are dying every year because they believe that suffering, disease, and death are inevitable. The desire to live is innate and natural, but constant fear and the contemplation of disease and death bring disastrous experiences. The so-called laws of the human mind are based upon fear and limitation, because of the ignorance of what constitutes real law, and as a result man limits himself in every direction. This state of thought results in discouragement and weakness. It enfeebles man's ability to accomplish the good that he desires to accomplish. Admitting only such as we must expect to accomplish good, and this joyous expectancy will be apparent, for we should go about radiating the gladness of living. We read in Proverbs (17:22), 'A merry heart doeth good like a medicine; but a broken spirit drieth the bones.'"

One of the most pernicious beliefs which beset humanity is the fear of inherited disease or of the inherited tendency or inclination to certain diseases. The law of heredity is completely untrue. Jesus healed the man blind from his birth. If man is the image and likeness of God, he cannot inherit discord or any evil, and there is no law of heredity to bind him. God is infinite good and sends no punishment and no curse upon his creation. That portion of Scripture which refers to visiting the sins of the fathers upon the children, and the third and fourth generation is sometimes understood as a contradiction of this, but when the second commandment is read in its entirety it is found to be a warning of the penalty which follows hatred of God. It carries with it a rich promise for those who are loving and obedient.

The success of the Christian Science movement does not depend upon the great numbers of its adherents, but wholly upon its work, the healing of all manner of disease and discord which it is accomplishing with such marked success. This is the justification of its existence and the assurance of its great future on earth. When John the Baptist, whose spiritual perception went far beyond that of those about him in the discernment of the Christ, was assailed by doubt, he appealed to Jesus to know if he really were the Christ who was to come. Jesus sent back not a long theological discourse, but the simple appeal to let the works bear witness to his Messianic mission. "Tell John," he said, "what things ye have seen and heard; what the blind see, the lame walk; the lepers are cleansed, the deaf hear, the dead are raised, to the poor the gospel is preached. And blessed is he, whosoever shall not be offended in me." (Luke 7:22). This covers the whole of human need and this proof of the practical operation of Christianity will always be the witness of Christ, Truth. For centuries mankind has been trying to solve the problem of healing. So far in the history of mortal man, there is nothing known in so-called science, philosophy, or medicine that equals the scientific healing of Jesus. No other system claims to be an exact science; the Christ method of healing is an exact science and does heal.

Jesus announced that he came to destroy the works of the devil and to save his father's will. His professed followers cannot question that he came to do that which was lawful and right. In the destruction of all evil he proved that disease as well as sin is not in accord with the law of God, but is the work of the devil or of evil. He devoted his whole life to proving the ability of God for healing under every circumstance. He used no material means, he ascribed no credit to himself, but always gave God the glory. If Jesus healed in accordance with the will of God, it must have been in accordance with the law of God, and his law is as effective today as when Jesus was upon earth. Salvation is a divine idea, therefore, for all eternity. Jesus did not limit the healing to his day alone, when he instructed his followers to go out into the world to preach the gospel to every nation and to heal the sick. Added to this was his admonition to those who believe on him to do greater works than he had done, not greater in quality but in quantity. Jesus individually did all there was to do; he worked out his own salvation and clearly defined the way whereby man can individually work out his own redemption. He said, "I have finished the work which thou gavest me to do."

There are many professing Christians today who think that the true understanding of God, but it is true when recourse is constantly taken to material systems of healing? The application of matter to matter for the healing of disease is the practice of pagan centuries. It may be applied today in changed forms, by methods believed to be more progressive and efficacious, but man has continued to multiply, and humanity goes on suffering, because God is left out of these systems of healing. This omission accounts for the long list of so-called incurable diseases, believed incurable only because men have said that they could not heal them. Jesus never said that any case brought to him was incurable or difficult to heal. He healed the man blind from his birth, and said to the man who was brought to him on a bed of sickness, "Son, be of good cheer; thy sins be forgiven thee." (Matthew 9:2) and when the scribes accused him of blasphemy, he replied, "Wherefore think ye evil in your hearts? For whether is easier, to say, Thy sins be forgiven thee; or to say, Arise and walk?" (Matthew 9:4, 5). This showed that he considered the infirmity mental, the result of wrong thought. At another time he said to a man whom he had healed, "Behold, thou art made whole, sin no more, lest a worse thing come unto thee." (John 5:14). Christian Science makes men whole by the destruction of sin. It creates a natural desire to know God's will and overcomes a love of ease in matter, thereby giving freedom and activity to thought.

The purpose of a Christian Science treatment is not to make a man comfortable in materiality that he may go on living at ease in matter, neither does it enable one to sin without the forever consequence of truth being the result of sin. Its purpose is the sublime one of regeneration, that man may overcome sin, sickness, and death.

Christian Science is not a faith cure. The healing is not accomplished through the mere concentration of thought, holding thought for another, nor through the exercise of the human will; that is, by willing the sick to recover. The entire teaching and practice of Christian Science rests upon the basic fact that the will is not God. The power of a Christian Science treatment lies in the fact that it is the realization of the omnipotence of God, of the power of truth over all error in accordance with the divine will or law. When all mankind can say with understanding, "Thy will be done," then shall we have God's kingdom on earth as in heaven, because the will of God is the law of the universe. The will of God is the reign of God; the manifestations of good are natural and right though the world has so long thought of evil as natural and inevitable that it seems a miracle to human sense when good appears. When the positive light of truth is brought to bear upon the false sense of evil, it disappears.

The objection is sometimes made by those who do not understand the method of Christian Science healing that nothing is being done for the sick who have turned to it for aid. One relying upon nothing, when one turns to the supreme source and cause of all things, the power which created the universe and man? Because God is the only creator, he is abundantly able to care for his own creation and to keep his divine law in operation. God is greater than any disease or evil condition and there is nothing to fear from looking to the only source and origin of all that exists for help and healing. Does not Scripture say that God is a God at hand and not afar off, an ever present help? Christian Science declares that all that is necessary for the healing of the sick is included in the one Omnipotent Mind.

There are today great numbers of people on earth who, in time past, in hopeless bondage to fear, misery, and disease, were compelled to turn to God for help because all else had failed them. Ask these people if they were doing nothing when they turned to Christian Science for healing. They will tell you that after everything else had failed, they learned that the only thing to do is to rely upon God. For many years in every Christian Science church throughout the world, on Wednesday evening a testimonial or experience meeting has been held. During this time millions of authenticated cases of healing have been related, authenticated in the sense that those giving the testimony are generally those who have had the actual experience of healing. Many of these people say that by the reading of Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures, known as the textbook of Christian Science, they have been healed of diseases classified as incurable. From cover to cover of this wonderful book, Mrs. Eddy declares the power and availability of God. These people, redeemed from disease and sin, say that they are better men and women because of the ministrations of Christian Science; they say that through the textbook, they have learned to understand and love God, that it has made them devout students of the Bible, and that it has taught them to pray intelligently. They express the deepest gratitude for having been delivered from paralyzing fear, from bad disposition, and from the direct cause of much disease and discord, the utter powerlessness of evil are not a deluded people. They know that the kind of mentality which causes disease cannot cure it, and that this change did not take place through any sense or mental suggestion, or through the withering influence of hypnotism, but that it came through the following influence of Christ, Truth ever operating through divine law.

The consecrated study of Science and Health is moulding the lives of thousands upon thousands into better health, honesty, justice and purity. As time goes on, as the great place in human history as the greatest benefactor of this age; and no attempt of evil can ever displace it or overthrow it.

The purpose of Christian Science practice is to help others and to enable them to learn from the textbook how to practice and to demonstrate the truth taught therein. The practitioner who realizes most clearly that there is no disease in matter to be treated, but rather that there is a false sense of the patient to be corrected, will accomplish the best results and gain a victory over error. If disease is absolutely ruled out of thought it will not be found in the body.

Throughout all time the Christ mind has appeared as the Saviour. It was revealed through the teaching of the prophets; it was demonstrated to its fullness in the life and work of Christ Jesus; it was declared as the only way of salvation by Paul; it was brought to this age by Mrs. Eddy through the revelation of Christian Science; throughout the successive steps of this revelation, the healing is conspicuous. Is it not then incumbent upon every professed follower of Christianity to prove in some degree the mind that was in Christ by casting out evil and healing the sick? Any effort to retard the progress and unfoldment of the Christ idea is but an incident in its history. Mrs. Eddy refers to the eternity of the Christ in Science and Health as follows: "Truth's immortal idea is sweeping down the centuries, gathering beneath its wings the sick and sinning. My weary hope tries to realize that happy day when man shall recognize the Science of Christ and love his neighbor as himself; when he shall realize God's omnipotence and the healing power of divine Love in what it has done and is doing for mankind."

No right thinking Christian Scientist claims that he has a claim or a right to heal. He does not claim that the full scope of healing has yet been accomplished, but he is striving constantly for more of the mind which was in Christ Jesus and is therefore a better man and a more desirable citizen in any community; he thinks more seriously of his vote that it may be cast on the basis of civic righteousness; he is in sympathy with every effort to bring about better conditions for humanity through the regeneration of mankind.

Autocracy was not destroyed nor even rendered inactive on that day in November, 1918, when the armistice was signed. Many ramifications of autocracy are appearing today, which must be recognized and resisted in order to preserve the liberty and freedom of our homes, of our children, and of our greatest American institution, the public school system. Throughout the country there is a concerted effort to force compulsory vaccination and objectionable so-called health laws into the public schools through legislation. If vaccination has all the virtues claimed for it by certain individuals, people would not have to be forced to accept it. Some of the best medical authorities consider it dangerous and the cause of some of the most malignant diseases. For the few to impose that which is considered dangerous and malignant upon the many through the process of law, is far from the ideals of those who founded the great democracy. The framers of the constitution of the United States discerned in part, our rights as sons of God, and incorporated them in that document as the inalienable rights of man. We must prevent the slightest infringement upon these rights if we would save this great republic for posterity.

The Bible, often referred to as the book of books, is too seldom read and too little understood. Too often it is shut away in the bookcase, or is made a depository for all sorts of memoranda, a collection of what-nots. Because the Bible depicts different conditions of thought, it is of especial interest to Christian Scientists, for they recognize in the history of the prophets, the children of Israel, and that of the disciples their own experience in the warfare between good and evil as it takes place in each individual consciousness. Christ Jesus, through his teaching, entrusted to his followers the spiritual warfare. The struggle at present seems to be between the material and the spiritual sense of things, but progress makes it less struggle and more triumph of good over evil, as it should be. Problems do not discourage or dismay the one who is thinking rightly, for he regards them as opportunities to prove God's allness. Paul said, "Thy grace is sufficient," and the Christian Scientist learns that God's grace is always sufficient unto the day or hour of seeming evil.

For centuries the world has stumbled on without a definite understanding of what constitutes true prayer. Under great stress of suffering or disaster there is sometimes a desire to know how to pray, but in spite of tears and importunate yearning, much of the prayer of the world is never answered. In James we read, "Ye ask, and receive not, because ye ask amiss." (James 4:3.)

Mrs. Eddy teaches that the only effective prayer is the prayer of Jesus—the recognition of the allness of God and the availability of that allness for every human need. True prayer is not a supplication through blind faith, in other words, turning God to God, away from person and making practical the goodness of God. True prayer brings thought into accord with divine Mind and declares and demonstrates the spiritual facts of being.

There are today more than a hundred different sects claiming to be followers of Jesus, none of which make the healing of the sick imperative. Jesus' whole mission was one of healing, and the need of the primitive Christianity which inspires its followers to emulate Jesus in his teaching and practice. Christians must prove that they accept the teachings of Jesus by fulfilling his commands—by doing his works.

It is sometimes asked by those turning to Christian Science for help, if it is necessary to have faith in order to be healed. It would be unreasonable to expect those who have no understanding of Christian Science to have faith in it. There are many in the ranks of Christian Scientists who experienced the most violent antagonism when Christian Science was first presented to them, but after seeing what it did for others, they consented to make the experiment and were touched by its beneficent influence.

Little more than fifty years ago there was just one Christian Scientist on earth, Mary Baker Eddy. She says in "Retrospection and Introspection," a short biographical account of her own life, that from her very childhood she was impelled by a hunger and thirst after divine things, a desire for something better than matter and apart from it. This spiritual desire made her always consecrated to the endeavor to know and understand God. With maturing years came the conviction of the unreliable nature of all things material. A time came when she was given up to die from the effects of an injury, supposed to be fatal; she then called for her Bible, and while reading of the cures wrought by Jesus, realized that God is as able to heal now as in centuries past, and she immediately arose from her bed restored to health. With her healing came the determination to know the science or truth which had wrought such a change in her life. She devoted years to the research; and at last in the divine and natural order of events, in 1875, "Science and Health with Key to the Scripture" was given to the world.

In this book Mrs. Eddy has set forth a scientific system with definite rules for practice, which will enable any sincere seeker to prove the truth of her revelation. In the early years of her ministry, with sublime patience and courage she waited, worked, and prayed, until she gained a handful of students to assist her in establishing Christian Science on earth. Today Christian Science is known throughout the whole world; in many remote places there is a society or church organization, while the larger cities have many overflowing churches. Mrs. Eddy also founded and directed many activities in connection with her church, which will always be of great benefit to humanity.

Christian Science does not advocate the superiority of woman; its appeal is for a universal spiritual suffrage, which equalizes and unifies the thought of men and women and will emancipate the whole human race. Mrs. Eddy never encouraged the slightest personal adoration, but always turned her followers to the worship of God, away from person and to Principle. Humanity will sometime realize that it can never repay its debt of gratitude to Mrs. Eddy, the Discoverer and Founder of Christian Science.

The Christian Science Church, with its form of government founded by Mrs. Eddy, stands for pure democracy, the brotherhood of man, unitive, participation, growth, and culture. Each individual has his place in Divine Mind and cannot usurp the place of another. The by-laws of the Church, contained in the Church Manual, originated by Mrs. Eddy, are for the purpose of maintaining and preserving the integrity of the organization and its activities, and are requisite as long as material organization is necessary. The tenets of the Christian Science Church, set forth in Science and Health, teach its followers to be "merciful, just and pure"; and this means obedience to the highest moral standard. To digress in moral integrity is fatal to the progress of a student of Christian Science.

It is evident that the sinning man held in bondage by ignorance and superstition is not God's man. Before mortal man reaches the consciousness of his oneness with God, he has a battle to wage within. All error must be overcome within, and individual consciousness is the scene of conflict. The Christian Science Church stands for absolute reliance upon God and His Christ. It stands for the achievement of every good thing, and for complete salvation from sickness and sin through man's dominion over all evil.

In closing I will also say for your remembrance, he who has suffered the pangs of keen disappointment, the sorrow of great loss, the humiliation of broken pride, will surely find in Christian Science a solace. It is indeed the Comforter which wipes away all tears, binds up the broken hearted, and restores all things.

'Man Of The Forest'

At Glendale Theatre

Proof that motion pictures have made strides toward becoming really universal entertainment will be given at the Glendale Theatre the next three days, the newest Hodgkinson release, Benjamin B. Hampton's great photodramatization of Zane Grey's book, "The Man of the Forest," is presented. Seeing this splendid play will convince the most skeptical that motion pictures have at last demonstrated their power of entertaining every class, taste and station of mankind at one time; a thing dreamed of by every sociologist and worker for uplift, but never realized until the recent developments of picture art.

To put it in other words, "The Man of the Forest" is a photoplay that will please the habitue of the classic drama just as much as it will thrill the seeker after pure motion picture entertainment. It is not above the head of the one class, nor is it idle to say that it will positively delight those of the other class who give it a fair trial.

The story is one of love and adventure, with its locale in modern Arizona of prohibition days, still a wonderland of romance as it is interpreted by the colorful pen of Zane Grey and the producer's rare art. A splendid cast of the screen's most talented players enacts characters of the story. Carl Gantvoort, former matinee idol of the light opera stage takes the title role. Opposite him is Claire Adams. The other major roles are powerfully and artistically interpreted by Robert McKim, Jean Hersholt, Eugenia Gilbert, Frank Hayes, Harry Lorraine, Charlotte Pierce, Frederick Starr and Charles Murphy.

Another big election night feature for the program will be Harold Lloyd's latest comedy, "Among Those Present," which comes direct from Grauman's. Glendale audiences know what Harold Lloyd means in laughs. "The Diamond Queen," a serial starring beautiful Eileen Sedgwick, with the star in person, also is on the bill.

Miss Helen Byers, famous soprano and friend of Miss Sedgwick, will sing at 9 o'clock. Election returns will be read from the stage through the courtesy of The Glendale Evening News.

Destiny evens things up, after in the old days when you could take a nightcap you couldn't get out the streets and see knee caps.

—Banking is an old business and its history is worthy of study—and yet it is new in the sense that banking practice today embraces far more than it did even ten years ago. Banking has become ever more and more closely bound into the fabric of our commercial, industrial and home life.

—The banker has always needed broad experience and knowledge of business affairs, but today his experience and knowledge are all-important, not only to himself but also to his clients. Business has become a world affair. No purely local considerations may now safely determine any business policy.

"Usually when I want to tell him something important."

Why we love the flickering drama.

"Next week," proclaimed the screen, "Midsummer Madness."
"Oh, we must see that, my dear!" whispered the literary person back of us. "It's one of Shakespeare's plays."

PLANNED IN ADVANCE

W. E. MCCORMICK
Arranging for transportation of about 4000 delegates and visitors to a state Christian Endeavor convention is quite some task. Therefore, when the general committee in charge of the gathering now being held in Glendale came to the matter of transportation they unanimously picked upon W. E. McCormick, passenger agent for the Southern Pacific Railroad company as the man to head the transportation committee.
And Mr. McCormick and his committee put the job over very completely; the delegates arrived on schedule. It required a great deal of preliminary work, started many weeks ago, to arrange for the transportation of the visitors and Mr. Mc-Cormick and his aids are receiving congratulations on their success of the big undertaking.

PARK PROJECT FOR SOUTH GLENDALE IS REVEALED

Purchase Of Block By Bond Issue, Plan Suggested By City Manager Watson

In presenting three plans for the widening of Los Feliz Road between Central avenue and Brand boulevard, City Manager T. W. Watson at a meeting with South Glendale residents Saturday afternoon broached a plan for a park and social center in the block bounded by Central on the west, Los Feliz on the north, Brand on the east and Laurel on the south.
According to Mr. Watson, the purchase of this block by a municipal bond issue would save the residents of that section the costs of condemnation proceedings to widen the roadway. Regarding the conference, he has transmitted the following to City Engineer C. L. Hall:

Propositions Submitted
"Property holders interested in this proposition requested that plans and estimates be prepared and presented at another meeting that will be called by George W. Todd, chairman of committee having this matter in charge. The propositions are:
"First—To widen and improve the roadway of Los Feliz between Central avenue and Glendale avenue by removing present curb and constructing new one that would be located within two feet of sidewalks and macadamizing the additional width of street and such portion of present roadway as would be necessary, leaving as much of the center of the present roadway undisturbed as practicable. This will not involve opening and widening proceedings. The assessment district should extend on Brand boulevard and Glendale avenue north from Los Feliz Road to Colorado street.

Would Remove Library
"Second—To widen Los Feliz Road between Central avenue and Glendale avenue by adding twenty feet thereto on south side replacing curb and sidewalk on south side on proper lines and macadamizing entire roadway which will be fifty-six feet in width. This will involve purchasing lot facing on Brand boulevard south of library building and removing library building to suitable location sufficient to permit of widening. This will require an estimated cost of widening including

TELLS EXPERIENCES WHEN HELD BY ROBBER BAND

Offered $12,000 Year To Act
As Doctor To Wounded; To Get 'Cut' Of Booty

By R. D. KNICKERBOCKER
Last night's session of the Christian Endeavor convention was featured by the address of Dr. A. M. Shelton, M. D., one of the most noted missionaries of the day, and for many years a resident of Tibet, situated in the heart of Asia. From his vast store-room of experience Dr. Shelton drew an interesting account of his life among the superstitious wild Mongols of Central Asia.

Five hundred miles from the nearest white man, surrounded on all sides by wild and hostile Asiatic tribes who looked upon their coming with suspicion and mistrust, this man, aided and abetted by his wife, finally succeeded in carrying the gospel to these people. At one time, he was seized by a band of robber bandits, separated from his wife and daughters and held prisoner for ransom for seventy-one days, finally being rescued by armies sent out by three of the great powers.

Unbelievably strange are the ways and customs of these isolated tribes. They are the most religious people in the world, if one may call it religion. They are the only people in the world who pray by machinery. By means of crude and weird devices a continual prayer is made to their gods.

They Don't Like Blondes
They are extremely suspicious of anything strange. The doctor, being of a dark complexion, got along very well with them, but his wife, who is a decided blonde, was looked upon as a strange and terrible person. There is one characteristic which they have, however, which he believes would be of great benefit to this country in these days of crime and laxity of punishment; that is the swiftness of justice.

Trial, sentence and execution usually consists of a matter of 10 minutes. The usual punishment for burglary or robbery of any kind is to cut off the hand of the convicted culprit, thus making him so that he will be afterwards known as a thief and accordingly watched.

Becomes Great Preacher
By his friendly tact and patience Dr. Shelton finally succeeded in winning the confidence of these heathen tribes and remarkable success in his work of conversion is now being enjoyed. A young Chinese beggar boy whom the doctor and his wife adopted and educated, has become one of the greatest preachers of the gospel in the country, and officiated at the baptism of one of the doctor's daughters, who was born in Asia.

So far has Dr. Shelton won the confidence of these people that he is frequently selected to arbitrate their tribal disputes and act as emissary in the settlements of their numerous wars.

It was while preparing for a visit to this country that the doctor and his party was attacked by the band of the biggest robber chieftain in the country. He was taken from his wife and family and held for ransom, the leader demanding $50,000 worth of arms and ammunition. It appears that missionary stealing was the favorite sport of these people at that time.

Closely followed by pursuing officials, the outlaws traveled night and day, snatching a few moments' sleep whenever possible. Realizing the hopelessness of securing the munitions demanded, the chief finally consented to release the doctor in exchange for a blanket pardon for himself and his 800 followers. This was agreed upon, but the Chinese governor attempted the well-known double cross and pursuit was on again.

Becoming so ill from the effects of his enforced hardships that he could no longer travel, the doctor was finally abandoned in a small mountain village where he was rescued by the pursuing armies just seventy-one days after his abduction.

He so won the hearts of the bandits during his unwilling stay with them, that they offered him $12,000 a year to act as their doctor and attend to their large number of wounded, who needed attendance at the conclusion of their numerous raids. As an added inducement they agreed to join the church and give him a "cut" of all the booty secured.

J. F. Swisher Writes In Defense Of Goats

Editor The Evening News: If you will kindly grant me a small space in your valuable paper I wish to register my views on the subject of prohibiting certain animals from being kept in a large portion of our city, as I understand there is an ordinance being gotten up to that end.

Relative to this matter I wish to say that for the last seven years I have been troubled with poor digestion and being recommended by several doctors to try goat's milk, find it to be most excellent food in my case.

I desire to enter a protest against the prohibition of so useful a little animal. First, it will deprive many poor families from having any milk, as the price of milk cows is almost prohibitive. The entire cost of keeping a goat will not exceed 14 cents a day, and a reasonably good goat will give three quarts of milk, which is by far richer and more pure and healthful, and which is free from any tubercular germs. One quart of cow's milk will cost 15 cents. Figuring the goat's milk at the same price, you would have three quarts of goat's milk which cost 2 cents less than one quart of cow's milk.

As to the sanitary side, I will gladly invite anyone to inspect my pen and see for themselves. My goats are always in their pen at home. I cannot say so much for the dogs of the neighborhood.

Now, in the name of justice, let up all try to look at this matter in a reasonable manner and not through the yellow goggles of pure selfishness.

Very truly,
J. F. SWISHER.

Children's Vaudeville Causing Much Interest

An event of the week and one certain of evoking wide interest is the Children's Society Vaudeville, to be held under the direction of Mrs. Pearl Keller at the Keller studios, 109-A North Brand boulevard, on June 29 and 30.

Nearly two hundred pupils, of all ages and in all stages of advancement will participate, the youngest, scarcely three years, having been assigned a solo dance.

The entertainment will be of a diversified nature, including group, ballet, toe, eccentric, character, Grecian, folk and jazz dances. Songs and dances and recitations will be emphasized by appropriate costumes of every description. The futuristic costumes will be exceptionally original. Music will be furnished by Mrs. J. A. Wright and Mrs. L. N. Hagood.

A delicate testimonial of appreciation was shown Mrs. Keller by her Saturday morning class of young girls in a hand-painted dress, made in Glendale.

East Side Association Hears From Candidates

The regular monthly meeting of the East Side Welfare association was held last night in the Broadway school building, with an enthusiastic group of citizens in attendance. J. C. Sherer, president of the organization, was in charge of the gathering.

Prior to last night's session all of the candidates in today's election were invited to be present and state their respective views and platforms. To this invitation ten of the fifteen councilmanic candidates and all four of the aspirants for the city clerkship complied with short talks. All declared themselves as being good losers, in case of defeat, and the general idea throughout the session was one of harmony.

The candidates for the council who were present and gave speeches were S. A. Davis, Charles Grist, W. B. Kirk, C. E. Kimlin, A. H. Lapham, W. C. Mabry, C. H. Muhleman, Spencer Robinson, D. W. Stephenson and H. W. Walker.

'Four Horsemen' Last Times Today At P. G.

"The Four Horsemen of the Apocalypse," Metro's picturization of the novel by Vicente Blasco Ibanez, closes its successful three-day engagement at the Palace Grand theatre with the evening performance at 8:15 tonight.

This million dollar spectacle, which has been endorsed by local officials of the Red Cross and American Legion, has proved to be the greatest motion picture ever exhibited in Glendale, and well merits the increased admission prices the Palace Grand was forced to charge for this engagement only.

Hundreds have seen the picture, and have praised it to the skies, and it is expected that the capacity of the Palace Grand will be taxed to the limit tonight by the tardy ones who will avail themselves of the last opportunity.

Fourth Grade Enjoys Picnic At La Ramada

On Monday the children of the fourth grade, Colorado school, were taken to La Ramada for a picnic by the fourth grade room mother, Mrs. Perry. All the good, old-fashioned stunts, such as the sack race and peanut and three-legged race were indulged in, and it was wisely planned that each child received a prize for something.

Dr. Arnold and the mothers of the children joined them for a jolly picnic lunch.

DELEGATES PUT PUNCH AND SWING INTO MUSIC AND REAL SPIRIT IS DISPLAYED AT GREAT CONVENTION

Hosts Advancing Christianity but Not to Tune of Funeral March; Invitation From Mayor of City of Oakland Puts 'Kazook Band' in Action

By R. D. KNICKERBOCKER

BEFORE A CROWD which, although it failed to equal Sunday's mammoth gathering by several hundreds, yet comfortably filled the auditorium, the evening session of the third day of the Christian Endeavor state convention opened with the usual community singing.

However, the word unusual would seem to better fit the occasion. For if ever there was punch and swing in music, these C. E. people certainly have. There is a joyous fervor about it that is hard to equal. In fact, this same note of joyousness seems to run through the entire convention. There are those of us—and we are not so aged either, who can remember the good old days when religion was a matter of stern repression. But if you have any such idea of this convention you are sadly mistaken.

While these young people are earnestly engaged in behalf of Christianity, yet this work is certainly not being done to the tune of a funeral march.

Young and old, tall and short, fat and lean, these hosts of Christianity are certainly enjoying every moment of their stay in Glendale. And Glendale is equally enjoying every moment of their stay here. One attendance at this convention will convince the most skeptical that Christianity and whole-hearted enjoyment go hand in hand under the proper circumstances.

Following the opening songs Announcer Arthur J. Gatter read a letter from Mayor John L. Davies of Oakland, inviting the Christian Endeavor to come to Oakland for the 1922 convention.

This letter brought the Oakland delegation to its feet with a war-whoop. Their now famous "kazook band" was once again in evidence while the audience was regaled with an invitation by song.

The blessing was asked by Phil Wells, ex-state president, who prayed that divine guidance might be given these young people in their deliberations.

Stereopticon views were given, showing the different activities in various C. E. centers. These views were accompanied by an address on "Our Union" by Harry C. Allan, field secretary. Pictures of the Glendale general committee brought a round of applause.

Of particular interest was a picture of the Little Lake Juniors, which had been organized at the request of a 12-year-old. The C. E. exercises were the only places for miles around where religious services were held in this isolated part of the state. Mr. Allan explained that the C. E. was making a specialty of reaching the people in these out-of-the-way places where there are no regular churches. The C. E.'s have also erected a chapel and reading room at the Orange County Farm and Hospital.

Views of Japanese Union

Views of several Japanese C. E. Unions were shown. According to Superintendent Allan the Japanese Christians are suffering severe persecution at the hands of the Buddhists. Glendale's big choir, led by Robert S. Maile and accompanied by Mrs. Spencer Robinson and Mrs. William Crawford, won many well-deserved plaudits by its excellent work.

A solo by Mrs. Fannie Marple Retts and the benediction by Paul C. Brown, field secretary, closed the evening's program. Immediately following the adjournment camp fire services were held on the high school bleachers.

Camp Fire Proves Popular; Hold Song And Prayer Service

By W. F. TOWER

Notwithstanding the lateness of the hour, 10 o'clock, the Christian Endeavor young people rallied to the campfire session held in the bleachers on the high school athletic field last night.

The recreation committee in charge, Prof. J. R. Baker and Roy King, had provided a huge pile of old boxes. As the delegates assembled they were fired and while the flames crackled and lighted up the surroundings Field Secretary Paul C. Brown led the singing of the familiar gospel songs, "Brighten the Corner," and "What a Friend We Have in Jesus."

A season of prayer and testimony followed. Mr. Brown urging upon the young people the privilege of life dedication and service in definite Christian work.

The young people evidently enjoyed this open air campfire session. At 10:45 the service closed, ending a busy and enjoyable day.

Mr. and Mrs. McGowan Twenty Years Married

Mr. and Mrs. William C. McGowan, of 217½ South Brand boulevard, celebrated their twentieth wedding anniversary, June 20, and in honor of the event a group of their friends, most of whom were guests at their wedding in Pittsburgh twenty years ago, surprised them by arriving in a body, bearing decorations, refreshments and gifts. A happy evening was spent dancing and talking over old times, and the "bride and groom" were presented with a beautiful ivory dresser set.

Those present besides Mr. and Mrs. McGowan were Mr. and Mrs. William Keibler of Glendale, Mr. and Mrs. Tittis and Miss June Tittis of Alhambra, Mr. and Mrs. Lee Lytell, Mr. and Mrs. Leitchfeldts of Los Angeles, William Warden of Los Angeles and Mrs. David Warden of Altadena, and Harry Korb of Glendale.

Twelve New Elks In Local Lodge's Lists

After the regular lodge session of the Glendale Elks No. 1289, which was attended by 300 members and at which time twelve new members were elected to become members of the order, a very charming program was given by the Hollywood ladies' quartet. This was the second quartet, the first quartet having entertained the members of the lodge several months ago.

Next Monday being July 4, there will be no regular lodge meeting. A special dispensation was granted to hold the meeting Tuesday, July 5, at which time the final arrangements will be made in regard to convention week.
